THE CASE OF JABEZ BALFOUR.

Decision of the Argentine Judge on his Extradition.

The Buenos Ayres Herald of August 20 gives the substance of the federal judge's decision, and after elaborate observations, says: "In the name of the nation, and in exercise of the jurisdiction which I exercise for it, I decree that the right to the extradition of the British subject, Jabez Spencer Balfour, has been established, and I order that he be placed at the disposition of the representative of Her Britannic Majesty's government in order that he may be tried for the crimes which are the cause of his surrender."

JAPANESE AGAIN SUCCESSFUL

Twenty-Thousand Chinese Routed and the Town of Wi Ju Captured.

Expected That the Japs Will be in Possession of Moukden by November.

Shanghai, Oct. 11.—The two Japanese spies arrested in Tientsin have been sent to Nankin to be beheaded. Affairs in Pekin are extremely critical. The emperor adheres to his determination to manage affairs himself. The assertion that the Japanese admiral has been making demonstrations with a dummy warship is unfounded.

London, Oct. 11.—A Tokio dispatch says the Japanese yesterday attacked and routed a force of twenty thousand Chinese at Wi Ju and captured the place. Ten thousand Chinese troops are reported on the banks of the Yalu river throwing up batteries. Field Marshal Count Yamagata has established his base of operations at Ping Yang. It is hoped the Japanese will be in possession of Moukden by the early part of November. China has been formally notified of the surrender of the steamer Tsukyonaru, together with the European and Chinese crew. A state of siege has been declared in Hiroshima.

London, Oct. 11.—A Tientsin dispatch says Chinese troops arriving there are composed of riffraff, and badly armed. The Chinese government has contracted with German manufacturers for quick firing guns, and the arms are expected to arrive daily. The Japanese are watching the coast for the arrival of arms. It is rumored at Tientsin that ironclad warships have been purchased from Austria and the United States. Captain Von Hanneken is to rejoin the Chinese service under Admiral Ting. The navy is very short of ammunition for the large guns, and the arsenals are working day and night furnishing supply. Four Japanese spies have been captured at Port Arthur. The spy arrested at Tientsin has confessed to having sent four dispatches to the Japanese informing them of the Chinese position. A fire at Tinetsin on October 4th destroyed the Chinese Merchants' company and other buildings were damaged.

It is reported that the emperor recently visited Tientsin in disguise to view the situation. Li Hung Chang is blamed for the Chinese defeats. The children sing songs ridiculing him and placards of the same character are posted in the streets. The Chinese declare that Russia is aiding Japan. The Japanese are in command of the Shan Tung coast and Gulf of Pichili. The Japanese fleet pay weekly visits to Wei-Hai-Wei. Eary on the morning of October 6th eight Japanese ships hovered about the entrance to the harbor. A few shots were fired at them from the fort. The forts at Wei-Hai-Wei are fully armed with heavy guns and the harbor is considered impregnable.

Berlin, Oct. 11.—The Cologne Gazette asserts that the European powers have agreed upon a Corean policy and have also decided not to hinder the Japanese from advancing upon Pekin.

TUPPER'S CONCLUSION.

Founded On an Utterly Erroneous Report of the Seal Catch.

Ottawa, Oct. 11.—Information received here from British Columbia is that the seal catch in Behring sea this season is about ninety thousand more than last year. Tupper says this carries out his contention that the Paris regulations would not interfere with pelagic sealing. It is also reported here that there is trouble between the Canadian and British governments over the regulations, it being contended that Great Britain is conceding every point against Canada to the States. Canada asked Britain that the correspondence be published, and the latter, it is said, refused.

COAST METROPOLIS.

An Opium Fiend Attempts to Murder His Mother.

San Francisco, Oct. 11.—The ship M. P. Grace from New York for this port, has been out one hundred and seventy-three days and some anxiety is being felt for her. She was spoken on May 27th last in Lat. 11 N. and Long. 35 W.

John Shea, a morphine fiend, attempted to murder his mother last night. According to the police Shea has been endeavoring to create trouble in the family for several days. Yesterday he became more violent than ever and an altercation took place between his brother and himself, in which his mother took sides against him. Later, in a fit of revenge, he assaulted his aged parent and followed up his brutal treatment by drawing a revolver and firing at her. The bullet struck her in the hand, inflicting a slight wound. He then turned the pistol on himself but before he could fire the weapon was taken from him and he was arrested.

B. M. Davis and Jno. Carruthers of Chicago and Professor F. S. Gilly of Arizona have arrived here with a view to launching a great tannery in the San Joaquin valley and acquiring twenty thousand acres of land for the purpose of planting canaigre, a plant which has tanning properties.

Herr Zeitung, while giving a bullet proof exhibition at the Orpheum last night was shot in the left arm just below the shoulder. The wound is not serious.

NEWS OF THE DOMINION.

Ex-Premier Mercier Has Another Bad Attack.

Hamilton, Oct. 11.—J. G. Buchanan, city editor of the Times, was drowned last night while driving in company with H. F. Gardiner, editor of the Times. They found it necessary to turn back. In turning the horse it backed over the edge of the canal. Gardiner swam ashore and procured assistance, but it was too late.

Toronto, Oct. 11.—T. A. Young, secretary of the West Durham Reform Association, has received the following letter from Hon. Edward Blake: "May I be permitted to say how glad I am to think that the Reciprocity resolution of the late Reform convention has ended that difference which led to the severance of my connection with that riding, and that though no longer to be associated with them as their representative I am not to be divided from them in my opinion."

Montreal, Oct. 11.—La Minerve publishes an apparently authoritative article regarding the successorship of Archbishop Tache. It declares the secular clergy of St. Boniface petitioned against the appointment of an Oblate, as it was supposed Father Langevin would secure the office. Their choice was Father Cherrier. The matter has been referred by Rome to the Canadian bishops.

The Richelieu and Ontario Navigation company paid a 3 per cent. dividend yesterday. This is the first dividend in many years.

Mercier had another bad attack last night and is very weak this morning.

The visit of Mgr. Satolli, apostolic delegate, which he will make in a few days in Quebec and Montreal has occasioned much speculation as to his mission. The church authorities deny that it has any official character.

"TWO WRONGS, ETC."

Criticism of the English Anti-Lynch Committee.

Boston, Mass., Oct. 11.—Abigail Dodge (Gail Hamilton) in a letter to the English committee formed to prevent lynching negroes in America, highly lauds the object of the committee, but adds: "The committee should take note of the arbitrary administration of laws in England. He instances the case of Mrs. Maybrick, convicted of an attempt to poison her husband and offers $500 for the production of evidence proving Mrs. Maybrick guilty beyond a reasonable doubt.

NAMING THE BABY.

How a Difficult Problem is Solved in Some Countries.

A Hindoo baby is named when twelve days old, and usually by the mother. Sometimes the father wishes for another name than that selected by the mother, in that case two lamps are placed over the two names, the name over which the lamp burns the brightest is the ... given to the child.

In the Egyptian family the parents choose a name for their baby by lighting three wax candles; to each of these they give a name, one of the three always belonging to some deified personage. The candle that burns the longest bestows the name upon the baby.

The Mohammedans sometimes write desirable names on five slips of paper, and these they place in the Koran. The name upon the first slip drawn out is given to the child.

The children of the Ainos, a people living in Northern Japan, do not receive their names until they are five years old. It is the father who then chooses the name by which the child is afterwards to be called.

The Chinese give their boy babies a name in addition to their surnames, and they must call themselves by these names until they are 20 years old. At that age the father gives his son a new name.

The Chinese care so little for their girl babies that they do not give them a baby name, but just call them No. 1, N. 2, No. 3, No. 4, and so on, according to their birth.

Boys are thought so much more of in China than girls are, that if you ask a Chinese father who has both a boy and a girl how many children he has, e will al- girl how many children he has, he will al-

German parents sometimes change the name of their baby if it is ill; and the Japanese are said to change the names of their children four times.

NO COMBINATION PROPOSED.

Mr. Dunsmuir Denies That His Company Have Entered Any Combine.

Price of Coal in San Francisco Will Remain Down as Long as the Duty Does.

San Francisco, Oct. 11.—The Call says dispatches from Victoria, B. C., indicate the formation of a coal combine. Negotiations have advanced so far that there is not much chance for failure unless the companies about to enter into the combine shall voluntarily abandon their purpose. It is just possible that the coal schedule of the new tariff was omitted from copies sent to Victoria. Otherwise, as duties on coal are reduced about 50 per cent., coal companies must realize the utter impracticability of a successful combine under a tariff so closely approximating to free trade."

Mr. James Dunsmuir, of the Union and Wellington collieries, said there was absolutely no truth in the report of a combine as far as his companies were concerned. There were some firms, no doubt, who wished to keep the price up, but as soon as the duties had been reduced his companies had reduced the price of coal, giving consumers the benefit. They intended to paddle their own canoe, and would not join any combine.

In regard to the report that Japan's coal supply was very short and that there was a good opening for British Columbia coal in Asia, Mr. Dunsmuir said that might be true, but coal was contraband, and they could not send any to the powers that are at war. He only wished they could.

The San Francisco Examiner, speaking editorially of the coal trade, said:

"A Republican contemporary alleges that in spite of the reduction in the duty on coal, 'the consumer of that useful article is still paying the price he was accustomed to paying for black diamonds before the new duty went into effect.' If this were true, there would be no occasion to complain of the imposition of a duty on sugar, which would be equally powerless to affect the consumer. It happens not to be true, however. The consumers got the full benefit of the reduction in the duty on coal, not only as soon as it went into effect, but before. As soon as it was made known that the change would be made, the reduction was discounted and contracts were concluded giving the purchasers the benefit of every cent of the saving. Moreover, in some cases the reduction in the price has been greater than that in the duty, for the large importations of Australian coal that followed the change in the tariff forced the British Columbia mine owners to cut their rates by 50 cents a ton in order to hold the market. Every manufacturer and large consumer in the city has saved at least the amount of the duty in the price of his coal, and this of course has been of direct benefit to labor and trade. If the purchasers of single sacks have not yet noticed a difference in price the fact is due chiefly to the slowness with which changes in wholesale rates usually filter into the retail market. The retail dealers themselves have all secured the benefit of the new rates, and competition will inevitably give the same advantages to their customers.

"In September, 1894, the first month under the new tariff, we bought 39,600 tons of Australian coal at this port, as against 9,100 tons in September, 1893. But the reduction in taxes did not close the American mines, as it was predicted it would, for we bought 45,400 tons of American coal in September, 1894, against 41,300 tons in the corresponding month of 1893.

"Last month our imports of coal from British Columbia amounted to 34,800 tons, on which we saved 50 cents per ton, or $17,400. From other quarters our purchases were 97,600 tons, on which we saved 35 cents per ton, or $25,160. On our total imports for one month we saved $42,560, at which rate we should be ahead to the extent of $510,720 a year. Our saving on the coal bill of San Francisco in eight months of the Democratic tariff will be enough to secure the construction of the San Joaquin Valley railroad."

THE WAR IN THE EAST.

London Times Correspondent's Account of the Yalu River Engagement.

The Latest Movements of the Japanese and Chinese Armies.

London, Oct. 10.—The Times correspondent elegraphs: I spent three days with the Chinese fleet gathering details of the fight off the Yalu river, in order to discover the cause of the heavy casualties. The warships Chao Yung and Yang Wei were unfit for battle, as they carried their original boilers, which had been neglected and had become worn out.

Their wheeling was inefficient from their station being in the rear of the second division to the flank of the line abreast. While the whole fleet was steaming ahead the vessels mentioned were left far behind, and owing to their isolated position they were an easy prey to the enemy. Their guns were useless through lack of suitable powder. That used was thirteen years old and had been condemned. Both were foredoomed at the outset. The Yang Wei, while burning, was rammed by the Chin Yuen, which was seeking to escape. Her captain, Fong, who has since been executed, was the instigator of the conspiracy against Admiral Lang. On the other flank also two weak ships were disastrously exposed to the enemy's fire. The King Yuen was burned and sank. The Lai Yuen was saved, though badly burned. Their fate was chiefly owing to weak construction and to the pumps becoming disabled. The ships were highly combustible, having high bulwarks and no iron deck slating. The main deck and upper deck were built of teak and blazed like matchwood. The frame work consisted of light iron beams fifty-four inches apart. The beams of the whole after section of the Tai Yuen were warped and the side plates cracked by the fire. The engine room became unbearable and she was compelled to drop out. For a time the guns could scarcely be worked on account of the fire. While reduced in action these two vessels received special attention from the enemy.

On the King Yuen the captain and first lieutenant were killed early in the fight and the crew probably lost heart. The Lai Yuen was brought into port only by the severest exertions of the crew and officers, who were all Chinese, some distinguishing themselves by saving the machine. The Chin Yuen came off best. Fire broke out on her three times, but was promptly put down, owing to her excellent system of pumps and steam power, which enabled her to maneuver with the minimum exposure. A 32 centimetre shell exploded in the starboard bunker, but did trivial damage. The ship was uninjured. The Chin Yuen was commanded by a Cantonese captain. During the line signalling was suspended from the flagship, owing to the loss of halyards and signalling men, he struck out on an independent line and attacked a small Japanese vessel at close quarters. Then he turned his back towards the fleet and his vessel capsized, having apparently received a torpedo.

The shooting on both sides was indifferent. Considering the prodigious number of projectiles thrown by the Japanese the effect was trifling, except for the burning of the Chinese ships. The Chinese received only four hits from the heavy Japanese guns. The Japanese greatly excelled the Chinese in discipline and in tactical skill.

The principal lesson to be learned from the engagement is the extreme value of speed, quick firing of guns and scientific maneuvering. When fire broke out on the Japanese vessels and guns and crews were disordered, the Japanese stood away and repaired the damage unmolested, and then returned to action. The Chinese received the severest punishment while struggling to put out a fire or to replace obturator rings. The resisting power of the armor plates against heavy guns was not conclusively tested. The total number of the wounded was 150. Most of these are doing well. Considerable numbers of the crews of the sunken ships saved themselves.

A dispatch to the Times from Yokohama repeats the report of the capture of Chefoo, and adds that the Japanese have landed troops at Tarascada, near Port Arthur. The correspondent at Hong Kong telegraphs under date of today that the Chinese have closed Foochoo in preparation for a siege. A panic prevails at Pekin.

The Times in its financial article this morning says a definite denial of any proposal to raise a Japanese loan has been received in this city. The common belief is that China will be compelled to raise a loan to pay the indemnity that Japan will demand.

The Associated Press learns on the best of authority that the European powers are acting in harmony. They do not intend to permit the integrity of Corea to be disturbed, and will actively enforce this decision should Japan attempt a permanent occupation of the peninsula.

The Standard publishes a letter from Pekin stating that Li Hung Chang's nephew, Li Ching Chue Chen, the taitotai, and Wah Yuen, another officer, are charged with selling 250,000 piculs of Chinese rice to Japan in the early part of the year. The rice was sent out of the country duty free by means of passes, which were obtained under the pretext that the rice was for the relief of famine sufferers in China. The letters say the public demand their execution as traitors.

Under date of October 10 a correspondent at Tientsin cables that five thousand Russian troops are quartered on the Corean frontier, facing the Japanese forces at Kuncaun, nine miles north of the boundary. The assaults on foreigners are increasing in frequency.

The Birmingham correspondent of the Standard says: Firms here are executing enormous orders for ammunition, which it is supposed is to be shipped to the continent and thence to the east.

A dispatch from Foochoo says that the river has been closed for shipping. Foochoo is one of the treaty ports of China, is the capital of the province of Fokien, and is situated about twenty-five miles from the mouth of the Min river. Foochoo has a naval arsenal, shipyards and school of navigation. Near it are extensive lead mines, and the black tea district is within seventy miles of that place. Consequently Foochoo carries on a large trade with the maritime provinces of China, both by land and water, as well as with the Loochoo islands and Japan. Its population is estimated at 500,000.

San Francisco, Oct. 10.—Beyond the sale of a few shipments of flour and canned goods the merchants of San Francisco have not derived much benefit from the war in the Orient. Says a morning paper: "Local wholesalers complain that they cannot compete with the Canadian Pacific cheap transportation and the manufacturing concerns of Europe. They say the war cannot do the port of San Francisco much good. Reports from Japan and China, however, tend to disprove this belief and show that it is want of energy and business promptness on our part that is standing in the way. By latest advices received via Victoria from Japan the local steamer and cargo ship service of that country and China have been greatly demoralized by the war. Shipping is at a standstill and some ports are sadly in need of certain lines of merchandise. For the benefit of our northern neighbors that have extensive coal mines the following quotation is copied from a letter received in this city a few days ago: 'Japan's coal stock has nearly all been bought up at a high premium and the price of coal has advanced nearly a hundred per cent., with ready sales. Australian coal has not been shipped here in any quantity for a long time and most of the English coals are too high priced to handle. Some of our idle Pacific coast hulls might find employment carrying coal to Asia.'"

OLD SOLDIERS MURDERED.

Terrible Condition of Affairs at Ohio's Veterans' Home.

Dayton, O., Oct. 10.—The police search for the perpetartors of the two recent murders of veterans of the soldiers' home on pension day develops a situation more horrible than the famous Bender crimes in the west. Many of the soldiers have been robbed and murdered at the soldiers' home, and only passing notice has been taken of the crimes. The G. A. R. is taking hold of the matter, and feeling runs high. The government placed detectives here to collect evidence against the murderers, who have grown rich by robbing the veterans. The local police authorities can do no more than give points that will surely lead to the arrest and conviction of the guilty ones. Fifty or more old soldiers found dead along the roadside bound to the national military home here at various times in recent years have led to accusations that all have been robbed and murdered and their cases passed over lightly. Chief of Police Farrell, in searching for the evidence to convict for two such murders, committed on September 29th last, developed clues to a lot of similar crimes, and he states that the situation is of a nature to require government secret service aid in bringing some of the criminals to justice. Ohio representatives have telegraphed an offer to introduce a bill to sustain the efforts of the local police authorities and citizens in this county in suppressing social robberies of pensioners and bringing to conviction the perpetrators.

A GULF STORM.

Crops Destroyed, Business Suspended, and Ships Wrecked.

New Orleans, Oct. 9.—A telegram has been received here from Port Eads to the effect that the orange crop in that section was damaged one half by the storm. The wind had attained a velocity of thirty-four miles an hour when the gauge broke. The rice fields were covered with water to the depth of four feet, but as the crop has been harvested little damage resulted from the overflow.

Charleston, S. C., Oct. 9—The cyclone went around Charleston. There was a heavy sea and hard rains, but the maximum velocity of the wind was only 35 miles an hour, and no damage was done so far as reported.

Savannah, Ga., Oct. 9.—The Gulf storm passed west of Savannah this afternoon, moving westward. No damage was done here. At Tybee the wind reached a velocity of seventy miles an hour for a while. Shipping was made secure and suffered no damage.

Pensacola, Fla., Oct. 9.—The hurricane that has been in the Gulf for some days struck this section Saturday night. It increased in force as morning approached and all day yesterday it raged with terrible fury. Falling roofs made it dangerous to appear on the streets, and business was practically suspended. Several barks dragged their anchors and either went ashore or were capsized. A wharf was swept away and the supply house was swamped and sunk. So far as learned no one was killed. The storm increased at midnight.

Moss Peak, Miss., Oct. 9.—In the storm yesterday five vessels were driven ashore at Ship island. At Round island also it is said that several schooners are ashore. As far as known no lives were lost.

EUROPEAN GOSSIP.

British Consul at Cadiz Shoots Himself at the Foreign Office.

London, Oct. 10.—The Morning Post will publish to-morrow a leader on "British Naval Movements in the East." In its discussion of imperial defence, it says: "The colonies hold aloof from Great Britain and are content to look on while the mother country pays premiums for their assurance policies. The time has come for a change. We would not do the colonies the injustice of supposing they would refuse to share the expense of the navy's coaling stations, if they were asked, but we are surprised that not a single colony has offered to do so. This being so, the imperial authorities must take the initiative. It is clearly the duty of the government to summon a conference of delegates from Australia, Canada and the Cape to discuss with the war office and admiralty some partnership scheme having a sound commercial basis."

Premier Turner, of Victoria, Australia, has issued a manifesto concerning the new ministerial policy. He pledges himself to the principle of "one adult, one vote," and promises a royal commission to consider the question of founding a state bank of Victoria. He will introduce in parliament bills providing for the taxation of unimproved lands and absentee landlords, and will propose a temporary income tax to be paid by persons whose incomes are not otherwise taxed. He will support imperial federation.

It is stated upon high Vatican authority that the pope said to Monseignor Gravel that his encyclical letter dealing with the affairs of the church in the United States was designed to put an end to opposition in America to the apostolic delegation. During his conversation with Monseignor Gravel, his holiness exclaimed repeatedly: "It must be ended."

The pope's audience with Senor Castelar lasted an hour and a half. His holiness was very cordial. Senor Castelar thanked the pope for his democratic and social leanings, and the pope congratulated the Spanish statesman upon his provisional adhesion to the Spanish monarchy as an act of political prudence.

The foreign office was this afternoon the scene of a tragedy which created great excitement within the precincts of that department. Mr. P. Henderson, British consul at Cadiz, who was in London on leave of absence, called at the foreign office and in course of business which led him there engaged in conversation with St. G. Foley, an interpreter of the foreign department. Suddenly Mr. Henderson drew a revolver and before Mr. Foley could interfere, shot himself through the head and fell to the floor, dying in a few minutes. Mr. Henderson's motive for taking his life is unknown.

A dispatch from Lourenzo Marquez, on Delagoa Bay, Southeast Africa, says that Chief Mahusula's Kaffir tribesmen massacred several whites and a large number of Kaffirs, allies, in the outskirts of the town to-day. There is continual raiding and looting in the vicinity. At a meeting of the European residents the incapacity of the government was denounced and immediate action was demanded. Business is paralyzed and the public offices are closed. The steamer Casengo will sail from Lisbon for Lourenzo Marquez on October 15, with reinforcements of troops.

The cholera reports for July and August show that 3716 cases and 2643 deaths were reported in St. Petersburg and its suburbs in these two months. The disease occurs now only sporadically.

CANNOT LIVE LONG.

The Czar Advised That He Cannot Be Cured.

London, Oct. 10.—The correspondent of the Standard at St. Petersburg telegraphs that he has learned from an eye witness that Professor Zacharin, while in attendance upon the czar said to him: "Your majesty's malady is incurable; with care and attention your valuable life may be prolonged for some months, but it is useless to conceal the fact that no remedies will prevail beyond a certain point." The emperor was visibly affected and his family were thrown into consternation by the change in his face and bearing.

Berlin, Oct. 10.—Professor Leyden, the specialist who was recently in attendance upon the czar, says:

"The czar has a powerful constitution, and still weighs 200 pounds, though he has lost much flesh since January 1. He should be able to make a good fight against the disease with favorable climatic influences, as at Corfu or the island of Madeira, and unless there are unforeseen complications he may recover. The illness of the czar is peculiar. His principal trouble is granulated contraction of the kidneys, in which the kidneys become hard and change tissue, besides being subject to atrophy. This is accompanied by hypertrophy of the heart, resulting from enticement of the muscular tissue. The latter leads to a breathing difficulty, and is often very painful, the spasm being complicated by fits of unconsciousness. This is the case with the czar. There is no dropsy, however. Diabetes in the preliminary stages declared itself, but it is merely a sympathetic accompaniment of the main trouble. When further advanced this frequently results in partial or free paralysis. Thus far, however, there does not appear to be any immediate danger with the czar. The most important requirement is total abstinence from mental worry, and on this point the czar is frequently difficult to convince. The patient should also have plenty of sleep, and the digestion of food should be regular. This, with open air exercise and good climatic conditions, is all that is necessary to effect a cure. Under the most favorable circumstances, however, the disease is of lengthy duration, possibly years, and the results are most uncertain."

Referring to the prospects of a regency in Russia, Professor Leyden remarked: "The question of the appointment of a regent was discussed at Spala in my presence, but no decision was reached." Professor Leyden concluded: "A regency will become necessary, however, if a cure is to be effected."

CATHOLIC CONFERENCE.

Position of Mgr. Satolli on the Liquor Question.

Philadelphia, Pa., Oct. 10.—The annual conference of the archbishops of the United States began at the residence of Archbishop Ryan this morning. There were present Cardinal Gibbons of Baltimore, Archbishop Corrigan of New York, Archbishop Elder of Cincinnati, Archbishop Feehan of Chicago, Archbishop Gross of Portland Ore.; Archbishop Ireland of St. Paul; Archbishop Janssens of New Orleans, Archbishop Katzer of Milwaukee, Archbishop Kenrick of St. Louis, Archbishop Riordan of San Francisco, Archbishop Ryan of Philadelphia, Archbishop Salpointe of Santa Fe, N. M., and Archbishop Williams of Boston.

Archbishop Satolli, the papal legate to the United States, presided. As the utmost secrecy surrounds the conference, it will probably be some time before the doings of the church dignitaries are known to the world at large, but owing to the fact that Archbishop Satolli himself will preside it is not likely that the present meeting will see such stormy scenes as those which took place at that memorable gathering at the residence of Archbishop Corrigan of New York shortly after the advent of the papel legate in the fall of 1892.

This morning the rumor concerning Bishop Keane and his rescript from the pope was revived, but among the large number of representative Catholics now in the city the story was discredited. In speaking of the conference to-day one well known ecclesiastic said: "I place little credence in the report that Bishop Keane will present to the conference a rescript from the holy father removing the United States entirely from under the authority of the college of the propaganda of the faith and making the American church entirely self governing and independent of the see of Peter except in the matter of faith. However, I am informed on the best authority that Mgr. Satolli will present [illegible] communication from the holy father announcing the absolute and irrevocable authority of the apostolic delegate and the permanency of the delegation. Moreover, this document will not submit a proposition to the discussion of the distinguished prelates present, but will contain a command to be heeded for all time to come. There is one thing certain, and that is that there will be no excuse for misunderstanding the position and powers of the apostolic delegate hereafter. It is practically certain that the liquor question, in relation to Catholic societies, will come up for discussion. Although it would seem clear that the letter of Mgr. Satolli sustaining Bishop Watterson in the proper exercise of his authority was only meant to have a local application by the publication of that letter and the wide spread comments that resulted, the problem has been forced beyond the limits originally assigned to it in the mind of the apostolic delegate. Another important question which I am assured will be considered is the exact clerical standing of the Ancient Order of Hibernians. This organization is prominent among the organizations that are giving the church considerable anxiety at present. Many officers of the order are [illegible] are not infrequently sold at Hibernian picnics, and the order is not always strict about forbidding such levities as dancing during lent. With Mgr. Satolli presiding at the gathering I believe that all personal differences will be kept under cover for the time being and most of the time devoted to routine work.

WASHINGTON MINE DISASTER.

One Man Killed and Many Injured at Newcastle.

Newcastle, Wash., Oct. 10.—Another fatal accident occurred in the Oregon Improvement Company's mines at this place yesterday afternoon at 3 o'clock, whereby one man lost his life and two were probably fatally injured, and eight others sustained injury. The last fatality took place at the Coal Creek mine, about two miles from Newcastle. It was caused by a "dust" explosion in breast No. 35, on the fifth level east. The explosion occurred just at the hour when the second shift was being changed, the third shift going on, and all the miners were in the gangway. Only this fact prevents the chronicling of a fearful loss of life, which might have rivalled in horror the recent disaster at the Franklin mines. As it was the only wonder is that no more lives were blotted out without warning.

Many were badly burned and some received injuries the extent of which it is impossible to determine at this time. The force of the explosion was terrific [illegible] consternation so wild spread that it was several hours before anything like an authentic account of the disaster and the cause of it could be ascertained. The management claims that the damage to the mine is not at all extensive, it being stated that $500 would cover it.

The shock caused by the explosion was enough to strike them off their feet, even at the bottom of the slope many hundred feet away.

All up and down the gangway there were men scattered along, but none of these men seem to have received much of a shaking up and all escaped serious results. The backward flow of air drove the fire along toward the roof of the slope east of breast 35, while to the west of that breast the fire made its way for several hundred feet and in time went out. However, the mine was left full of gaseous smoke that was death to any who remained in it long. The men at both ends of the gangway soon went to the rescue of any unfortunate miners who might have been caught by the rush of the fiery messenger along the gangways. The force of the direful explosion was enough to break up the breast, 35, in a remarkable manner, while in the one adjoining 25 or 30 tons of coal were rolled down by the subterranean shaking up. The bulkheads were broken up and other considerable damage done, and it was necessary for a large gang of men to at once get to work and clear out the tremendous pile of coal that had been thrown out and sent spinning down into the gangway.

It was something of a task to find and locate the dead and injured in the uncertainties that surrounded the case. George Parcish and Charles Giles were found together, one dead and the other apparently dying, while the dead mules which the snow white boy but a few minutes before had driven along the gangway were found near by. The other men picked up along the gangway were covered with soot and coal and burned and scorched in a horrible manner. The condition of the poor victims showed that from location or other causes the men suffered differently. The young mining lad, while dead, yet showed that the fire had not apparently been ruthless with him, as with some of the men found to be still living.

As soon as the rescuers could safely forge in they did so and it was not long before they had the unfortunates in the open air. Then it was seen what awful agonies they had been undergoing and enduring. They were in many instances horribly burned and singed. Their faces and heads especially and arms and hands were bleeding and the skin crisped up like miniature cracklings.

A Good Appetite

Always accompanies good health, and an absence of appetite is an indication of something wrong. The universal testimony given by those who have used Hood's Sarsaparilla, as to its merits of restoring the appetite, and as a purifier of the blood, constitutes the strongest recommendation that can be used for any medicine.

TUPPER'S NEW ERROR.

In the Times the other day appeared an estimate that the total seal catch in the North Pacific this season would be about 145,000, of which the pelagic sealers would contribute about 90,000. The later statement seems to have been twisted in the course of transmission to Ottawa, so that Minister Tupper is now laboring under the wrong impression that the schooners have taken 90,000 skins more than they did last year. On this impression he is building up some comfortable conclusions for himself, as appears from our Ottawa dispatch today. One might expect Minister Tupper to be better informed, in view of his official position. In reality he appears to have the faculty of getting "facts" to square with his theories on both the sealing and the salmon-fishing questions. His own reason should have kept him from the ridiculous mistake of supposing it possible that the sealing schooners could this year have taken 90,000 skins more than last.

READY FOR CHASTISEMENT.

The Toronto Empire, the chief Tory organ, should come under the disciplining hand of the Colonist, which yesterday complained of Canadians who are ready to listen to and circulate derogatory reports concerning the mother country. In the chief organ appears a paragraph taken from an English paper concerning the low price at which certain English farms have been sold, accompanied by comments inspired by the organ's protectionist views. A portion of the Empire's comment reads as follows:

The English farmers have the greatest industrial population in the world at their very doors. They get cheap goods at home and foreign make without any tariff duties added to the price, as free traders pretend that duties are always added. They ought to make rich [illegible] as a simple matter of fact, while English middlemen, English manufacturers, shop-keepers and freight carriers have become enormously wealthy, while great fortunes have been produced by these interests, the producing classes—the farmers and the workingmen—have not secured their share of prosperity, and farming, which is the basis of English well-being and stability, is reduced to a disastrous condition.

In the face of these facts, which cannot be denied, Canadian farmers cannot afford to listen to the suggestion that—situated as this Dominion is beside a fully developed country like the United States with enormous capacity for competing in farm products and manufactures—we throw down the tariff walls and undergo the same dire experience that English farmers have passed through.

Of course the Empire is well aware that farm values in its own province have fallen quite as heavily as in England, and that the same cause—the lowering of prices for farm produce—operates in both places. It is also aware that the said prices, for both Canadian and United States produce, are fixed by the British markets, where all come into open competition. But it chose to ignore all these facts and pass a slur on the mother country in the hope of making a point against free trade.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

The Colonist is still knawing at the Laurier file, with the natural result of damage to its teeth. In all its lucubrations it carefully ignores the expressed intention of the Liberals to lessen the tax which the N. P. levies on the consumer for the benefit of the Red Parlor. The revenue from customs is only twenty millions, while the Red Parlor's revenue from the unjust taxation is at least three times as much. Perhaps the organ will yet gather courage enough to offer an opinion on the advisability of lessening this part of the taxpayers' burden. Our amusing neighbor also continues to misinterpret the effects of Mr. Laurier's visit. If its efforts are intended to deceive the people of this province they are quite useless, for the people here know the truth. If the intention is to lead eastern people astray the effort will again be wasted, for both Tories and Liberals in the east know that the Colonist's assertions are just what might be expected from a hide-bound Tory organ.

"The best policy for Canada to pursue is to keep the home markets for her own people, and let them take chances of getting a share of the trade of less progressive countries," says the Nelson Tribune. If the United States acted on this principle and excluded all foreign silver and lead ores, where would Kootenay be? Of course the United States could not do this harm to Kootenay without injuring some of its own people, and neither can Canada follow a policy of exclusion without injury to herself. We are rather surprised that any man interested in Kootenay should be short-sighted enough to believe in "protection."

SPOILED THE PROGRAMME.

Federal Officials Will not Take Part in the Campaign.

Washington, Oct. 11.—Senator Gray, of Delaware, one of the most earnest and persistent defenders of the administration, was among the callers at the Democratic headquarters yesterday. There is a warm political battle raging in the State of Delaware and Democratic leaders are calling for recruits from all directions to help repel the attacks of the Republican hosts. Ambassador Bayard is on his way home from England to take part in the fight and a number of distinguished campaign orators from other states are announced to speak at various points in the state. Senator Gray was surprised and greatly provoked to-day when he learned that Mr. McAdoo, assistant secretary of the navy, extensively advertised as one of the speakers at the Democratic rally in Laurel, Del., next week, has been obliged to cancel his engagements for reasons which he is not at liberty to give at this time. It is understood that Mr. McAdoo and several members of the administration received a suggestion, supposed to have emanated from the President, discountenancing political speaking and active working during the present campaign by Federal officials. Mr. McAdoo accepted an invitation to make a series of speeches in Delaware, New York and Pennsylvania, and he had made all his arrangements to fulfill his promise to the campaign committee. It was intended to use him in all of the shipbuilding districts because of his familiarity with that subject. The managers at Democratic headquarters are greatly annoyed and embarrassed at the sudden cancellation of the engagements of so many valuable campaigners. To-day an effort was made to ascertain if the President is responsible for the disarrangement of his party's programme. Secretary Lamont was appealed to on the subject and he said that he was quite positive that the President had in no way interfered in this matter. It is understood that all the trouble about Federal officials in the campaign arises from the fact that a certain official, expected and desired to take a part in the New York campaign, but there is opposition to it on the part of certain friends of the administration.

New York, Oct. 11.—The Sun this morning prints the following interesting political news: Mayor William R. Grace came out flat-footed in favor of the Democratic state ticket yesterday. His county convention refrained from endorsing the ticket, which was not even mentioned in the resolutions adopted. The formal resolution for the appointment for a committee of thirty to fill vacancies on the ticket which may occur, empowered that committee to do other things, although nobody noticed that fact when it was introduced. Under that authorization that committee will adopt a resolution pledging the loyal support of the New York State Democracy to Hill, Lockwood and Brown. "The democracy will give that ticket most earnest and honest support," said Mr. Gaffey yesterday. Ex-Secretary Fairchild will not join with Mr. Grace in support of Senator Hill.

An Old Friend.

We are glad to welcome back to our advertising columns our old friend "Tamilkande Tea."

Many of our readers who have been on constant "table acquaintanceship" with this excellent beverage will be glad to see its announcements again, and we trust they will prove a reminder to them of their duty to their neighbors of passing the good word on and letting them know where they get this delicious tea. Do not forget its name is Tamilkande.

DRAMATIC DREAMS.

Example of Lightning-Like Play of the Imagination During Sleep.

A curious example of the dramatic and mythopoeic quality of dreams, and of the power of compressing time, was once related to me by a lady. She, in her dream, was sitting in her room looking out on a beautiful, clear, autumn twilight, says a writer in the Illustrated London News. She heard a knock heralding visitors, and, going downstairs, found two strangers in her parlor. One she recognized—a relative who had died in her childhood. He was a little old gentleman in a brown dress of the early part of the century. With him was a handsome lady in a Spanish mantilla. They had, on the table before them, a small, ancient, iron-bound chest. At this moment, still in the dream, a servant entered with tea, or some refreshment, and lo! the visitors vanished. The servant went out, and there were the visitors again. They had opened the coffer and displayed two sets of yellow, old documents. One was a list of securities, one a list of names. The lady in the mantilla explained, while the old gentleman nodded assent, that he and she had been betrothed, and that she had died before their marriage. The old gentleman had gone abroad at the Peace of Amiens, had been caught and detained on the continent of the war, and this had led to some accident in his affairs by which the coffer and its contents had been neglected and the securities were still lying unclaimed.

"They are," said the lady of the mantilla, "now in the keeping of Messrs. —." A knock at the door. Enter the maid with tea in flesh and blood; disappearance of the dream. The solicitor's name was never communicated.

Now, the dream mind clearly started from the maid's first tap at the door. This was the knock announcing the arrival of the visitors in the dream. All the rest of the scenes were a myth, invented by the dream mind to account for the first half-heard tap. The dream mind created the person of the old, forgotten relative, and invented, without any assistance from conscious memory, the lady of the mantilla, and her love story and her death. The box, the securities, all the dresses, the properties, were improvised by the dream mind and placed on the stage of vision.

All this was done, all this drama performed, merely as a myth, accounting for the first tap, and everything was invented, staged and acted in the moment between the first tap at the door and the second.

MAKING A NEW FACE.

Jefferson Hospital Surgeons Perform a Delicate Operation for Cancer.

There was performed at the regular surgical clinic of the Jefferson hospital one of the most serious and extensive operations which mark the rapid advance that is being made by modern surgery in its triumph over disease, says the Philadelphia Record. The patient, Jas. Devine, of Roxborough, has been suffering for a number of years with a small growth on the left eyelid, which, beyond a slight facial disfigurement, gave him no especial inconvenience. About four years ago the growth was removed, but it was not long before there was evidence of a return of the disease. From that time to the date of his appearance at the hospital for relief the growth advanced with great rapidity, affecting the entire left side of the face.

After the man was placed under the influence of ether the hospital surgeons found that the cancer had made even more serious damage to the deep tissues of the face than to the external skin, and it became necessary in the effort to obliterate every vestige of the disease to remove practically the entire left side of the face. The eyeball was removed, the skin and muscular tissues cut out and a large part of the bone in this region chiseled away. When the surgeon had completed this part of his work there remained a wide, deep and gaping wound as large as the hand. At the bottom of this lay only a thin plate of bone separated the brain from the surgeon's instrument.

Now came the most delicate and skillful large opening with tissue from other ful part of the operation, the filling in of parts of the head. In order to make the new face and at the same time give the countenance a symmetrical appearance, the surgeon loosened and turned into the opening from which the tumor was taken large section of skin from the forehead and neck, which were stitched together. The operation was a complete success, and at last accounts the man was doing well.

Mr. T. E. Wiley, 146 Chambers street, New York, says that Ayer's Sarsaparilla cured him of a dry and scaly humor, from which he had suffered intolerably. He adds, "I have not now a blemish on my body, and my cure is wholly due to Ayer's Sarsaparilla.

THE CHAMBERED NAUTILUS.

This is the ship of pearl which, poets feign,
Sails the unshadow'd main—
The venturesome bark that flings
On the sweet summer wind its purpled wings
In gulfs enchanted, where the Siren sings,
And coral reefs lie bare,
Where the cold sea-maids rise to sun their streaming hair.

Its webs of living gauze no more unfurl;
Wrecked is the ship of pearl!
And every chamber'd cell,
Where its dim dreaming life was wont to dwell,
As the frail tenant shap'd his growing shell,
Before thee lies reveal'd
Its iris'd ceiling rent, its sunless crypt unseal'd!

Year after year beheld the silent toil
That spread his lustrous coil;
Still, as the spiral grew,
He left the past year's dwelling for the new,
Stole with soft step its shining archway through,
Built up its idle door,
Stretch'd in his last found home, and knew the old no more.

Thanks for the heavenly message brought by thee,
Child of the wandering sea,
Cast from her lap, forlorn!
From thy dead lips a clearer note is born
Than ever Triton blew from wreathed horn!
While on mine ear it rings,
Through the deep caves of thought I hear a voice that sings:

Build thee more stately mansions, Oh, my soul,
As the swift seasons roll!
Leave thy low-vaulted past!
Let each new temple, nobler than the last,
Shut thee from heaven with a dome more vast,
Till thou at length are free,
Leaving thine outgrown shell by life's unresting sea!

—Oliver Wendell Holmes.

THE REAL STAGE LIFE.

It Isn't the Dream of Idleness Some Ignorantly Think.

When we are worn out with work and heat and walking we are very glad of an opportunity to drop down in an easy chair, throw off what clothes we can, draw a long breath, imbibe a long drink—ginger ale and lemonade is my latest; try it, girls—and just relax our muscles and be comfortable.

But suppose that in the midst of all this we were compelled to jump up, dress ourselves, "make up" our faces, with the room so hot that the paint and powder were all caked and streaked, and walk on the stage before five hundred pairs of eyes, smiling, calm and cool to all appearances, with that red-hot crescent of fire, the footlights, in front of us, fierce bunches of lights at each entrance, long lines of "border lights" overhead and any number of "ground lights" on the stage at the back, besides the heat that emanates from the audience?

It's a wonder to me that the Thespians do as well as they do during the heated term.

I sat in the dressing room of a young actress the other night.

She is a nice little girl, decent and self-respecting, who never seeks to tangle up the silly sons of millionaires, never has any diamonds to lose or to wear, either—never broke up any homes, and is never noticed by the papers, and I marveled at the work she did.

I wish that those aspirants who regard the actress' life as a downy dream of diamond-decked dolce far niente—not bad, that, is it?—could have seen her as I did.

Her room was up two flights of stairs, and she had just ten minutes to make her first change of costume.

Her second change had to be made in twelve minutes, and this involved an entirely new outfit, even to her underwear, and included a sort of dry bath that she gave herself behind a screen—she couldn't afford a maid.

She was obliged to make three changes of underwear that night.

Oh, yes:

"What's the use of working
From youth to weary age?
Idleness is better;
Let's go upon the stage!"

The latter reported that pending final arrangements the road had not yet been taken over from the contractors. The board of directors was re-elected. They are as follows: P. C. Dunlevy, W. J. Macaulay, Julius Brethour, James Jeffrey and R. Irving. P. C. Dunlevy was re-elected president, and Robert Irving secretary and treasurer.

—The police are on the lookout for Frank Miller, alias P. Lewis, a young man who passed two forged checks, one at Freeman's clothing store and the other at the Telegraph hotel. The name of R. H. Hall, manager of the Hudson's Bay company, was signed to both, and the checks when presented to the Bank of British Columbia were cashed. All steamers departing from the city since Tuesday have been watched without any success, and it is generally believed that Miller has got away to the American side. Miller passed the check on Freeman Saturday night and previous to that had been staying at the Telegraph hotel for several days.

—The funeral of the late Charles J. Burnes took place this morning, and was very largely attended by sorrowing friends. The cortege left the house, Bastion street, at 9.45 o'clock and proceeded to St. Andrew's Roman Catholic cathedral, where another large crowd was assembled. A mass for the dead was celebrated by Rev. Father Nicolaye, who also read the prayers for the dead after mass and at the side of the grave in Ross Bay cemetery. There was a large number of offerings of flowers of the greatest beauty. They were worked into a variety of designs and literally covered the casket and hearse. The pall bearers were Walter Wallace, Edward Wriglesworth, Gray Ure, William Buckett, J. Stark and Fred Baker.

—A harvest home festival is to be held this evening at St. Barnabas church. The church has been very prettily decorated and the choir has practiced special music for the occasion. Bishop Perrin will preach.

The adjourned quarterly meeting of the British Columbia board of trade will be held at the office at 3 p.m. on Friday next, October 12th. After routine matters have been disposed of a scheme for advertising the city of Victoria will be considered.

—There was a very good attendance last night at the concert given at the Y. M. C. A. by the Epworth league of the Metropolitan Methodist church. The programme published in the Times last evening was carried out and was greatly appreciated. This is the first of a series of concerts to be given by the young people's societies of the city.

—Surprising as it may seem the Northern Pacific and Great Northern railways have actually more freight than they can handle. Between the two it is estimated that they are 12,000 cars short of what they could use at the present time. It is believed by many to be the first move in the direction of an improvement in the general condition of business.

—The steamship Tacoma of the Northern Pacific line was scheduled to leave Yokohama on Saturday last, but very likely did not get away until Sunday. She had a lot of freight booked for her in advance, so she has a big cargo of freight, and as the Chinese ports are open she will have a number of passengers. She will be here the latter part of next week.

—There has been a large increase in the number of pupils enrolled in the public schools of the city. The number of pupils actually enrolled is 2099. The highest average actual attendance per teacher in the different schools is as follows: North ward, 47; South Park, 40; Spring Ridge, 39; boys' Central, 37; Victoria West, 35; girls' Central, 35, and High school, 30.

—St. James' church looked pretty last night with its decorations for the special harvest festival services. Palms and ferns were a feature, and these were kindly loaned by Mrs. McTavish. Bishop Perrin preached an excellent sermon, Rev. J. B. Hewetson sang the service, and Rev. G. H. Marwood, of H. M. S. Royal Arthur, read the lessons. Rev. Canon Paddon and Rev. H. S. Akehurst were also present. The choir, assisted by Mrs. Greig, Miss Angus and Messrs. [illegible] the musical programme very well. The offertory amounted to $18.35, which goes to the organ fund. The order of service was as follows: Hymn 382; Ely Confession; Festal Responses; Proper Psalms, 140 and 150; Magnificat, Nunc Dimittis, Stanford; anthem, "The King of Love My Shepherd Is;" hymns 383 and 386.

—The attraction at the Victoria theatre to-morrow and Saturday evenings will be Lincoln J. Carter's great scenic melodrama, "The Fast Mail." It has been one of the greatest successes known to the stage for years. It has a story of thrilling interest, and the scenic and other mechanical effects are said to be marvellous. The falls are shown by moonlight, with the roaring and plunging waters, and the mist that rises from the seething current. One of the most prominent of the play's features is the complete freight train of fourteen cars, with an illuminated caboose, drawn by a practical locomotive. The play itself has thrilling situations in abundance, plenty of humor to lighten its tone and give it an agreeable flavor throughout. Seats are now on sale. There will be a special children's matinee on Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock, tickets for which [illegible] where patrons are advised to get them in advance and thus avoid the rush at the theatre box office. Prices for matinee are adults 50c, children 25c, gallery 25c.

—Sidney Hooper has been summoned to appear in the police court for using gross and insulting language to J. Lengre. The case will be heard to-morrow morning, having been remanded from this morning. The summons was issued under the public morals by-law.

—Rev. P. McF. Macleod will preach at the First Presbyterian church, Vancouver, on Sunday morning, it being the anniversary of the opening of the new church. He will lecture in Vancouver Monday night on "The Power of Humor in Public Speech." Rev. Maxwell, of Vancouver, will speak here in Central church on Sunday morning.

—The Ladies' Aid Society of the First Presbyterian church gave a social last evening, and it proved a very pleasant affair. Refreshments were served and the programme rendered was as follows: Instrumental solo, Miss Clara McGregor; recitation, Mrs. Walt; solo, J. G. Brown; vocal duet, Misses Milne and Baker; piano solo, Miss Mussie. Rev. Dr. Campbell presided and announced the programme.

—Ah Sing was in the police court this morning, charged with supplying liquor to Indians. The witnesses against him could not be found and the case was remanded until to-morrow, when if the witnesses necessary to prove the case are not on hand the charge will very likely be dropped. Two Indians found with liquor in their possession were fined $25 apiece and two ordinary drunks were disposed of in the usual way.

—Mrs. McCallum, wife of Captain McCallum, was quite severely injured on Tuesday evening. She had been visiting the family of R. Harvey on Fort street and was just getting into her cart when the horse started. Before he could be controlled he ran against a telegraph pole. The cart was overturned and Mrs. McCallum thrown out. She struck on her head when she fell, and was quite badly hurt. She was removed to Mr. Harvey's home, where she is now under the care of physicians. No serious results are looked for.

—Miss Elizabeth Kerge and Gus Schroeder were united in marriage last evening. The ceremony was performed at St. Andrew's Roman Catholic cathedral with full choral accompaniment. There [illegible] present to see the ceremony, and later the couple and their guests were entertained at supper at the home of Mrs. Pettingill, Blanchard and Rae streets. Mr. and Mrs. Schroeder are popular young people, and their many friends have joined in wishing them well.

—Thomas Brown and Miss Florence Nesbit were united in marriage last evening at 7:30 o'clock. The home of Mr. P. Nesbit, father of the bride, Work estate, was the scene of the ceremony, and Rev. Solomon Cleaver, pastor of Metropolitan Methodist church, was the officiating clergyman. The bride looked very pretty in a handsome dress of creme silk. She was attended by her sister, Miss Stella Nesbit and Miss Gracie Hackett, who were similarly attired. Captain Cutler of the schooner Agnes McDonald, was best man. The ceremony was witnessed by a crowd of friends that filled the house to overflowing. The house was decorated with roses and ivy and the ceremony performed beneath an arch. At the close the couple were heartily congratulated. A wedding supper was served and the health of Mr. and Mrs. Brown pledged. The many friends of the couple testified their regard by sending presents. Mr. Brown is a successful sealer, and is very well liked by all who know him. He was out this year in the schooner Libbie. Mrs. Brown is a popular young lady. They left this morning on the Charmer for the Mainland, and will visit several points, among them Harrison Hot Springs.

—There were a number of minor applications in chambers at the supreme court to-day. This is the last weekly chamber day of the long vacation and hereafter when the vacation ends applications will be heard daily.

Are You A "Tender Foot"?

Not in the wild western sense, but in the sense of having tender feet. If you are, we want to fit your next pair of Shoes for you. There's a great deal in the way a shoe is first put on and the way the foot settles into it. If it's tight where it should be and loose where it should be, there'll be very little trouble. We make a study of these things. Prices? Of course they're right or we would not sell so many Shoes.

BANKERS IN SESSION.

Representative Financiers of the States Meet at Baltimore.

Baltimore, Md., Oct. 10.—Twelve hundred delegates, representing more than two thousand banking institutions in every state and territory in the union, were assembled in Ford's opera house this morning at the opening of the twentieth annual convention of the American Bankers' association. More than half of those present were from the west.

The convention was called to order by President M. M. White of Cincinnati. Mayor Latrobe extended a cordial welcome to the delegates, to which response was made by the president. The annual report of Secretary Henry W. Ford of New York showed that state associations, each having its separate officers and management, now existed in thirty states and territories and in several of the Canadian provinces. The several papers read before the convention at today's sessions dealt with the practical methods of banking rather than with the broader theories of finance. Various suggestions for the regulation of the currency, however, were offered by a number of representative bankers. In accordance with a previous understanding the silver question was excluded from the discussions, it being the opinion of the executive council that as the subject was gone over in detail at the Chicago convention last year further discussion would be a waste of time. An early adjournment was taken to allow the delegates from the various states and territories to meet and select a member for the committee on nominations. The convention will be concluded to-morrow.

TERRIFIC GALE.

Loss of Lives and Shipping at St. Pierre, Newfoundland.

St. Johns, Nfld., Oct. 10.—St. Pierre, the French colony on the south coast of Newfoundland, was visited by a terrific gale last night, which caused the loss of at least two lives and unprecedented damage to shipping. More than fifty vessels which were anchored in the roadstead were driven ashore and most of them were destroyed. Their crews escaped only by the merest chance. A fleet of more than three hundred French fishing vessels had arrived at St. Pierre within a few days, having been compelled to make port in consequence of damages sustained in the gale on the Sunday before last, which raged furiously on the banks. All the vessels report serious losses. Several ships are missing and are believed to have foundered, with the loss of two hundred lives.

A DIFFICULT CLIMB.

A Perilous Adventure of Francis Parkman, the Historian.

In the Knickerbocker for 1845, there was a forcible realistic sketch by Francis Parkman, entitled the "Scalp Hunter," the leading incident in which is a piece of mountain climbing, in which the vengeful settler, pursuing his one remaining Indian foe, reached a position from which advance or retreat were alike impossible. For Parkman's vivid description of the terrible climb he was indebted to a personal experience when a young man, which he communicated to Daniel Denison Slade, who now records it in the New England Magazine, September. The story is as follows:

"It was during our sojourn of several days at Crawford's Inn, then situated in the very Notch of the White Mountains, that one day, suddenly and unknown to me, Parkman left early in the morning, and did not return until evening. The condition which he presented betokened the perilous adventure of the day. His clothing was badly torn, his fingers were lacerated, and his legs showed injuries which had been caused in almost superhuman exertions in the preservation of his life. After walking down the Saco valley as far as the Willey House, he entered upon an exploration of the chasm which had been produced by the slide which had come down from the Willey Mountain, directly behind the cottage, at this time in good preservation. Climbing over the vast amount of debris, consisting of rocky fragments and enormous boulders, brought down at the time when the Willey family was swept away, he arrived at the entrance of the defile with its precipitous sides. Glancing upward, he determined without much forethought to gratify his strong desire to overcome such natural obstacles and so to test his physical powers, as well as his moral courage. In his diary he says:

"I began to climb, and with considerable difficulty and danger I surmounted both precipices. I climbed on, but finding that I was becoming drenched by a huge cloud not far up settling slowly toward me, I bethought me of retracing my steps. So I began to descend the ravine, nothing doubting that I should find some means of getting out before reaching the critical point. But it was impossible, and I found myself at the top of the precipice, with no alternative but to slide down or to clamber the perpendicular and decaying walls to the surface of the mountain. The former was certain destruction, and the other method was scarcely less dangerous; but it was my only chance, so I braced my nerves and began to climb. . . . I had got half way up, and was clinging to the face of the precipice, when the two stones which supported my feet loosened and leaped down the ravine. My finger ends among the disintegrated rock was all which sustained me, and they of course would have failed, had I not thought on the instant of lowering my body gradually, and so diminishing its weight until my feet found new supports. I sank the length of my arms, and then hung for a time in tolerable safety, with one foot resting upon a projecting stone. Loosening the hold of one hand, I took my large jack-knife from my pocket, opened it with the assistance of my teeth, and dug with it a hollow among the decayed rock, large enough to receive the support of one foot. Then thrusting the knife as far as possible into the wall to assist my hold, I grasped it and the stones with the unoccupied hand, and raised my foot to the hollow prepared for it. Thus foot by foot I made my ascent, and in ten minutes, as time seemed to me, I seized a projecting root at the top and drew myself up. During the entire time of climbing I felt perfectly cool, but when fairly up I confess I shuddered as I looked down at the gulf I had escaped."

"Although little reference was afterwards made to the perils which he had undergone, the remembrance of the event was always carfully cherished by him, until it had found expression, a few years after, in the story (The Scalp Hunter) above mentioned."

THE GARDEN OF EDEN.

A French Professor Locates It in the Euphratean Basin.

The Garden of Eden has been located almost everywhere on the earth's surface—at the pole, at the equator, in Siberia, in Peru, by the Caspian sea, on the banks of the Ganges. In an extended article on this subject in the American Ecclesiastical Review, October, the Rev. J. A. Zahm, C. S. C., university of Notre Dame, tells us that Livingstone sought for Eden in Africa, and hoped to find it at the head waters of the Nile. Professor D. C. Brinton, in a recent lecture, expresses his belief that the first home of our race was either in western Europe or northern Africa. Columbus thought he had found the site of Paradise in what is now Venezuela or Colombia. A writer in La Nouvelle Revue, April 15, 1893, argues that the Desert of Sahara embraces what was once the Garden of Eden. Dr. Zahm gives very many of the views held on this subject, and then comes to his own conclusion, which is that the true site of Paradise is the land intervening between the confluence of the Tigris and the Euphrates and the Persian gulf. He says:

"Here then, at the long last, have we found the object of our quest. In the basin drained by the Shatt-el-Arab, on the northern border of the Persian gulf, at the extreme south of old Babylonia, so famous in history—the theatre of so many political, social and religious revolutions, and the trysting place of humanity's first intellectual jousts—must we locate the Garden of Eden.

"This sacred spot, while answering fully to the description of the Genesiac narrative, att he same time meets all the requirements of theology and satisfies all the exigencies of history and science.

"All the indications of authentic history point to this spot as the cradle of our race. It was here, indeed, that history was first written; it was in this land that libraries were first formed; it was in the capitals of Mesapotamia that literature essayed its earliest flights.

"From this spot went ofrth those streams of humanity that have long since reached every nook and corner of the habitable earth. From this quarter of the globe have come all our most useful plants and cereals—wheat, rye, oats, barley—and most of our domestic animals.

"It is towards this point that all the lines of human thought converge as to their natural centre. Thither must linguistics look for a solution of many of its riddles. To this favored portion of the world must ethnology go if it would read aright the affiliations of the various races and the countless tribes of humankind. Here alone have the traditions of the great Euphratean valley their proper interpretation, and here alone have the myths which have so long puzzled Orientalists their full significance.

"The Garden of Eden is not then a 'bit of mythical geography,' as it has so often been denominated. It is a fact, and one of the most interesting and important and suggestive facts of all his many facts that were else an enigma; many fast that were else an enigma; the thread of Ariadne that prevents us from losing ourselves in the 'labyrinth of fanciful theories and in the chaos of clashing opinions,' in which the lot of the modern searcher after truth is cast.

"And, strange irony of fate! It is in close proximity to the spot here indicated for the seat of Paradise that those who are most opposed to the Biblical account of man's origin have been compelled, by the overmastering indications of science, to locate the birthplace of our race. For not far to the south of the lower Euphratean basin is situated Haeckel's hypothetical Lemuria."

HOURS IN THE SEA.

The Experience of a Young Englishman Who Tried to Swim Ashore.

With nothing but a life preserver between him and certain death, George Moore of Bristol, England, spent fourteen hours in the Atlantic ocean, off Cape Henry, says the Boston Herald. George Moore's case, which was brought to the notice of Commissioner of Immigration Dennanty by Captain Wiley of the schooner Cactus, is both romantic and pathetic.

Moore is eighteen years old. He decided to steal his passage from Liverpool to America, and he secreted himself in the hold of the steamer Templemore, of the Johnston line. Here amid the suffocating heat he remained in hiding for nine days. He was discovered by one of the sailors when three days out, but instead of informing the captain the sailor took pity on the youth and gave him some bread and water when possible. Moore's rations, however, were short, as the sailors did not dare to run the risk of being caught offering succor to a stowaway.

When nine days out one of the engineers discovered the stowaway and quickly informed the captain. When Moore was brought before the captain he was threatened with imprisonment when the ship reached Baltimore, also with a treadmill on being returned to England.

"Only the Scars Remain,"

Says HENRY HUDSON, of the James Smith Woolen Machinery Co., Philadelphia, Pa., who certifies as follows:

"Among the many testimonials which I see in regard to certain medicines performing cures, cleansing the blood, etc., none impress me more than my own case. Twenty years ago, at the age of 18 years, I had swellings come on my legs, which broke and became running sores. Our family physician could do me no good, and it was feared that the bones would be affected. At last, my good old to try Ayer's Sarsaparilla. I took three bottles, the sores healed, and I have not been troubled since. Only the scars remain, and the memory of the past, to remind me of the good Ayer's Sarsaparilla has done me. I now weigh two hundred and twenty pounds, and am in the best of health. I have been on the road for the past twelve years, have noticed Ayer's Sarsaparilla advertised in all parts of the United States, and always take pleasure in telling what good it did for me."

Mother Urged Me

Ayer's Sarsaparilla

Prepared by Dr. J. C. Ayer & Co., Lowell, Mass.

Cures others, will cure you

The thoroughly frightened youth was finally set to work and given some bread and water.

Possible imprisonment in two countries was not a very desirable outlook for the young Briton. At first there seemed to be no way of escape, but as the Templemore stood off Cape Henry in the early morning of July 22nd Moore mistook the head lights on several sailing ships for lights on the coast. Being a good swimmer he concluded that he could escape by jumping overboard and swimming ashore. To think was to act. He hunted the deck over until he found a life preserver. Quickly getting his head and shoulders through the preserver he jumped into the ocean. Instead of swimming towards the shore he went in the opposite direction, and when daylight came there was nothing to be seen of land.

His position was perilous in the extreme; death at any moment seemed certain. The sea was rough, and wave after wave rolled over his head. His endurance was remarkable, considering the fact that for nine days he had barely food and water enough to sustain life. He swam and floated on and on for fourteen hours, until at last, when it seemed as if every moment would be his last, he was seen by the lookout on the schooner Cactus, bound from Baltimore to Boston. Captain Wiley of the Cactus lowered a boat and sent four of his men to the rescue. Moore was completely exhausted and fainted when placed in the bottom of the boat. His head, face and neck were badly scorched, as he had no protection from the July sun. Captain Wiley is proud of Moore's achievement and is so well pleased with his pluck that he has shipped him before the mast.

Yesterday Moore looked none the worse for his experience. Several good nights' rest and substantial food have put him on his feet, and he now laughs at what would have been certain death for one with a lower stock of vitality.

Thousands of new patrons have taken Hood's Sarsaparilla this season and realized the benefit in blood purified and strength restored.

SCHOOL TRUSTEES.

Principal Paul Reports on Affiliation With Some Eastern University.

Reports From Teachers on Matters in Reference to Different Schools.

Edward Lewis took his seat for the first time at last evening's meeting of the school board, the other members present being Charles Hayward, chairman, J. B. Lovell, Henry Saunders, W. Marchant and George Glover.

Henry Croft notified the board of the expiration of the insurance policy on the Victoria West school. Referred to the finance committee.

The Liberal Association thanked the board for the use of chairs during the lauriet reception. Received and filed.

The supply committee was empowered to supply books to children whose parents were unable to purchase them.

The attendance for September was: Average daily attendance, 1890; average actual attendance, 1864; pupils actually attending, 2099; average per teacher, 45.5.

F. J. Claxton wrote advocating drilling for boys in the public schools. Received and filed.

J. A. Thomson, boiler inspector, reported on the heating apparatus at the north ward school, recommending certain improvements. Referred to the architect.

E. B. Paul, principal of the collegiate institute, on behalf of the teachers of the institute, asked if Mr. St. Clair could not drill the pupils after school hours, as at present the teachers found that all their time was occupied in teaching the various subjects. The suggestion was adopted, as was also a schedule for drills at the other schools.

Mr. St. Clair asked for information regarding fitting up the gymnasium. Referred to the supply committee.

An application for a position on the teaching staff was laid on the table.

J. G. Taylor and William Noble wrote protesting against the dismissal of their children from the central school. Miss Williams, principal of the girls' central school, stated that as the children lived near the Oak Bay district school, they were simply advised to attend that school. The pupils have already returned to their old classes.

All the principals, with the exception of William Nicholson, Victoria West, reported on the condition of the school furniture.

Trustee Lewis wished to know why the principal of Victoria West school could not do the same as the other principals.

The reports were received. Mr. Nicholson to be informed that a report from him is expected.

The principals reported favorably on the work being done in their respective schools. Received and filed.

The principals also reported on the attendance at the exhibition on children's day. Mr. Hawkey explained that the children of Spring ridge school did not join the parade, as they were not invited and he had heard nothing of the arrangements made by the other principals.

The reports were received and filed and Mr. Hawkey's explanation accepted as satisfactory, Messrs. Saunders and Lovell voting against the resolution.

Principal Paul of the collegiate institute wrote in reference to the affiliation with some eastern university. He thought Toronto university would be the most suitable. Laid on the table.

A list of "wants" was referred to the supply committee.

The bad drainage for surface water at the north ward school was referred to the architect.

Bills amounting to $180 were referred to the finance committee.

Trustee Marchant said the old Hillside ward school was in a dilapidated condition. The Rev. Mr. King, who had been granted leave to use the building should keep it in repair. Referred to a committee.

In accordance with the usual custom a telephone was ordered to be placed in the residence of Trustee Lewis.

Trustee Marchant drew attention to the overcrowded condition of the lower [illegible] thought the Rock Bay school should be opened to relieve this overcrowded condition. The matter was laid over and the meeting adjourned at 10:15.

KOOTENAY'S MINES.

Nelson Tribune.

Had the government built a good road from New Denver to Kaslo, and a good one from the foot of Slocan Lake to Slocan crossing, and one from the head of the same lake to Nakusp, and a few branch roads to the mines, which could have been done for one-fifth of the money expended on the Nakusp & Slocan railway, Southern Kootenay would have been a good country in which to do business. For every car load of ore shipped out there would have been a carload of merchandise shipped in. Competition would have brought the hauling rate so low from the mines to the steamboat landings or railways that mine owners would not be out more per ton than they will be out on the Nakusp & Slocan railway, and for every man employed on the railway there would be a [illegible] employed as teamsters, and for every wheel turning on the railway there would be an animal hitched to a sleigh or a wagon. But, then, building wagon roads does not allow of the big fish getting any part of the "rake off," the "rake off" all going to the small fry. The government lacks horse sense.

George A. Bigelow took in the towns on Kootenay lake this week, and reports that business is fairly good in all of them. At Pilot Bay, it is said the smelter company will have its concentrator and one stack ready by November 1st. At Ainsworth, little else is talked of except the Skyline deal. At Kaslo, it is expected that this winter's business will be fully as good as was last winter's.

The provincial government is hard up—as hard up as many of the capitalists in Kootenay. The reason therefore is that it has been spending more than it has been taking in, even counting the money it has borrowed. Like many another borrower, is rushing to meet its obligations. It has notified all persons in arrears on lots at Nelson to pay up by December 31st, 1894, the notice plainly stating that if the sums due are not paid [illegible] and the agreements of sale cancelled. The arrears of lots sold in Nelson is in the neighborhood of $30,000. Where the $30,000 is to come from is what troubles the people who owe it. The government is in need of the money, and is fairly entitled to it; but if the people who purchased the lots are unable to pay, the government will have to wait until they are able to pay. At any rate the government cannot summarily cancel any of the agreements or forfeit the amounts already paid, as the chief commissioner's notice would imply.

Nelson Miner

Some new placer ground about 25 miles above the mouth of the Pend d'Oreille is causing some excitement. Messrs. Lobot & King of Spokane are putting in a hydraulic plant. Mr. Litchfield is prospecting his property with the same intention if results are satisfactory. The claims are on the American side and are one-half mile each in length.

We are informed that Dr. Rankin Dawson, who was in town last week, has forfeited his seat at the board of directors of the Hall Mines, for absence without leave. The other directors have the power of re-appointing him until the next general meeting of the company, when the reappointment will come for ratification by the shareholders.

D. W. McVicar, of Nova Scotia, who has already purchased a couple of claims in the Ainsworth district is negotiating over the Skyline. Its owner, Mr. A. W. McCune, of Salt Lake City, values it at $100,000.

Spokesman-Review.

Negotiations are pending for the erection of a smelter to treat the ores of the Trail Creek district. O. Bergstrom, who has long held the responsible position of assayer for the big Colorado smelter at Butte, is in the city working up the enterprise. He has been up to Trail creek, looked over the ground carefully, and yesterday submitted a proposition to the officers of the Le Roi mining company. At a meeting of the directors to be held Wednesday action will be taken on Mr. Bergstrom's offer.

Mr. Bergstrom's attention was first directed to this opening while assaying ores from Trail Creek. He is thoroughly informed on the question, and is said to come here with ample backing.

It is his plan to start with a small plant of the reverberatory process and enlarge it as occasion requires. That would reduce the ore to a copper matte for shipment to Swansea, Wales. The smelter would be erected near the Le Roi mine, either on Trail creek or Sheep creek. Mr. Bergstrom has been in conference with President Corbin of the Spokane & Northern and it is said he has received assurances of encouragement from that gentlemen.

LIGHT AND THE EYE.

Most people would be apt to say that the action of light on the eye, so far as its regularity and uniformity is concerned, is very simple—that as soon as the light flashes out we see it, and that when it goes out we cease to see, except for a brief persistence of the impression on the retina. In fact, however, the [illegible] than ten years ago it was noticed that the red hot end of a stick of charcoal when waved about appeared to be followed by a blue image of the burning end, the space between being quite dark. Other experiments showed that after the image of an object had quite disappeared from the retina it suddenly revived for a brief space. The more the subject has been studied the more complex does it seem. The latest investigations, those of Mr. Shelford Bidwell, described in a paper read before the London Royal Society on June 7, show that when the retina is affected by light there is first a sensation of luminosity which grows more intense for about one-sixtieth of a second; then ensues a sudden reaction, lasting for an equal period, the retina becoming partially insensible. These effects may be repeated several times in a diminishing degree. Then follows a steady sensation of light, of an intensity much less than that experienced at first. When the light is shut off there is first a sensation of diminishing luminosity, then a brief interval of darkness, then a sudden, clear sensation of abnormal darkness for about one-sixtieth of a second, followed by an [illegible] of ordinary darkness, finally, about one-fifth of a second after the extinction of the light, there is another luminous impression, generally violet colored. This it is that causes the blue image of the charcoal point mentioned above.

SCHOOL DAYS IN OLD ATHENS.

The Philosophers Believed in Combining Amusement With Education.

Think of Aristotle recommending a rattle! He wrote: "It is also very necessary that children should have some amusing employment; for which purpose the rattle of Archytas seems well contrived, which they give children to play with to prevent their breaking those things which are about the house, for owing to their youthfulness they cannot sit still." This Archytas was a Pythagorean, and the rattle was a vessel of metal or wood with small stones in it. Here we have a "touch of nature" which shows the boy of Athens' kin to the boy of the nineteenth century. Professor S. S. Laurie, university of Edinburgh, contributes a series of papers to the School Review on "The History of Early Education." The article in the September number is devoted to school days in Athens, from which we learn that children's amusements were substantially the same as those of to-day:

"The ball was a universal plaything. As the children grew older there came the hobby horse, the game with dice (made of the knuckle bones of animals cut into square pieces), and spinning tops both in the house and in the open air. Toys and go carts and mud pies engaged the interest of Athenian children as of the children of all European nations. Then followed at a somewhat more advanced age a game which consisted in throwing slantingly into the water small smooth stones and counting how many leaps they made before sinking (which we call skimming or ducks and drakes), blind man's buff, trundling hoops, and all kinds of games with the ball, walking on stilts, leap frog, kite flying, seesawing on logs, and swinging, etc., etc. Girls had dolls made of wax or clay and painted. Blind man's buff was thus played: The boy with his eyes bandaged moved about calling out: 'I will catch a brazen fly.' The others answered: 'You will hunt it, but you will not catch it.' All the while they kept striking him with whips until he managed to catch one of them.

"The mother's influence practically ceased from the day the boy went to school. The want of education among Athenian women precluded their exercising much influence over the boys. But during the first seven years the mother of the child's education. Nursery rhymes, traditionary stories in which animals played a part, thereafter the rich legendary, heroic and mythical lore of the Hellenic races were imparted to the child. A poetic and dramatic cast of mind was thus given, to be nourished in future years by the school teaching and by the public drama and civic festivals.

"The play time ended with the seventh year. The place of the female attendant was now taken by the Paedagogue, who did not impart instruction, but had only a moral oversight over his young charge both in and out of the house, and whose task, accordingly, it was always to accompany him to the schoolmaster (Grammatist) and gymnastic master (Paedotribe). The pedagogue had charge of the boy at all times. His business was to train him in morality and good manners, and he was granted the power of beating him, if necessary. The rules as to the external bearing of boys in the street and at table were extremely strict in Athens no less than in Sparta. Doubtless the view the pedagogue took of his duties could not always be very lofty. The answer of a pedagogue, who had a high conception of his function and was asked what he did, is worth recording: [illegible] to make the good (beautiful) pleasant to boys.'"

Arrangements Are Complete for the Fall Meeting of the Golf Club.

New York, Oct. 11.—Corbett and Fitzsimmons faced each other at the Herald office to-day for the purpose of making a match. Fitzsimmons was the first to arrive. When Corbett entered he saluted Fitzsimmons with "How are you Fitz?" The salutation was returned. Corbett asked Glori, Fitzsimmons' manager to show the color of his money and Glori immediately displayed $1000. Corbett then showed a roll of $10,000 and told Glori to cover it when he pleased but added that the fight could not take place until after July 1st. This was somewhat disappointing to Fitzsimmons but it was agreed that the fight take place after July 1. Then came the question of where the fight would take place. Representatives of a number of clubs were present. The Jacksonville club offered $41,000 and the Olympic club $50,000 for the fight. Corbett smiled at the last offer and said there should be some guarantee when such a purse should be paid. The representatives of the club then offered to put up $5000 which Corbett said was not enough. The Olympic club's offer was rejected its managers not being able to put up a forfeit and the offer of $41,000 from the Jacksonville club was accepted.

LACROSSE.

DON'T WANT TO PLAY HERE.

New Westminster, Oct. 11.—The lacrosse club did not meet last night. There were so many other attractions that the men could not be got together. It is pretty generally understood, however, that the supporters of the club will do their utmost to prevent the match being played in Victoria.

GOLF.

FALL MEETING.

The golf club fall meeting will take place on Saturday, the 13th inst, to play off the following: First, an open event, post entries; second, a club handicap, entries to be sent to the secretary not later than Friday evening; third, an open handicap sweepstakes, post entries. The ball for the first event to be teed between 9.30 a. m. and 12.30 noon. The rules of golf will be strictly enforced, any infringement of which will disqualify. The annual general meeting will be held afterwards, at 8 p.m., in the office of Mr. Archer Martin, above the Bank of Montreal.

BASEBALL.

WAS A FAKE.

New York, Oct. 11.—The Herald this morning says that the story published yesterday to the effect that certain members of the New York team had agreed before the Temple cup series was played to divide equally with a corresponding number of Baltimore players was a fake. No such agreement ever existed.

THE TURF.

KENTUCKY FUTURITY.

Lexington, Ky., Oct. 9.—The richest trotting stake ever decided in the world was that of the Kentucky futurity for three year olds, which was trotted yesterday in the presence of nine thousand people. The weather was clear and cold and the track very fast. Of nine three year olds that faced the flag Dwyer's chestnut filly Benzeta, by Onward, dam Beulah, was the favorite over the field. She was unlucky enough to draw the outside position, and acted so badly in the excessive ricochetting that it looked as if her driver would never get away. Coming down for the fifteenth time he got her steady, and although she got away in the last bunch before a furlong was [illegible] nation. Rich in Hambletonian blood, her gait was pure and faultless, and without being struck a lick she swept past her field of brilliant youngsters, and before the half mile post was reached she was leading by two full lengths. She was never in trouble, and came home an easy winner with four lengths to spare. The second and third heats were simply processions, and Benzeta won the race easily. The speedy bay colt Speedy, by Hindoo Wilkes, and the colt Axonite, by Axtell, made a pretty fight in the second and third heats for $3000, second money. The unfinished 2.26 class from yesterday was won by Josie Allen quite cleverly.

MIDDLEPARK PLATE.

London, Oct. 11.—The race for the Middlepark plate was won by Speedwell, Keelson second, Raconteur third.

San Francisco, Oct. 11.—In Oakland last night Dana Thompson swam a race of five hundred yards for the amateur championship of America. Thompson won in 6 minutes 46 1-4 seconds, tieing the world's record. Wick Havens won the fifty yards race in 28 seconds flat, lowering the coast amateur record.

MISCELLANEOUS.

NANAIMO NEWS.

A Child Burned to Death—Political Notes.

Nanaimo, Oct. 11.—The little four-year-old daughter of Thomas Leeman met with a sad accident on Tuesday evening. The little girl had been playing around a bonfire close to the residence of her parents when her dress became ignited from the flames. The child's piercing screams attracted the mother's attention and although she was prompt to the rescue, and quickly tore the clothes from the little victim, it had suffered such terrible agonies that it only lived a few hours. The funeral takes place on Sunday.

WESTMINSTER FAIR.

Professor Soper, Aeronaut, Drowned in the Fraser.

New Westminster, Oct. 11.—The second day of the fair was more successful than the first, with bigger crowds. The weather continues beautiful and the attendance has been the largest on record. The drowning of Aeronaut Ray or Soper in the Fraser while making the parachute drop yesterday afternoon threw a damper over the day's sports, but the feeling has worn off to-day. Prof. Soper of Saginaw, Mich., ascened in his balloon at four o'clock, rose several thousand feet above the river, about a quarter of a mile distant, and slowly descended. When he should have dropped with the parachute the aeronaut was seen to stay with the balloon. It was discovered afterwards that the parachute became entangled, and balloon, parachute and man fell into the river. A boat was quickly rowed to the spot and Soper was taken out of the water alive, but died in a few minutes.

BY HIS OWN TRAP.

Young Man Sets a Gun for Deer and is Shot Himself.

Reding, Cal., Oct. 11.—D. E. Monn, son of D. N. Monn, editor of the Populist paper published here, was accidentally shot and killed at Cattle, this county, yesterday by a shotgun set in a trap for the purpose of killing a deer. He had loaded both barrels of the gun and to this attached a string for the purpose of discharging the same. Hearing the report of the gun, he thought both barrels had discharged and running to where the bait had been placed, he struck the string which discharged the second barrel. The shot took effect, hitting him in the fleshy part of the leg, cutting the main artery, from which he bled to death. He was brought here last night and this morning an inquest is being held. He will be buried to-morrow.

EX-TREASURER HALL.

Publication of His Letter Caused Something of a Sensation.

Quebec, Oct. 6.—Somewhat of a sensation seems to have been caused by the publication of Hall's letter, giving his reasons for resigning from the government. The ex-treasurer declares the letter was never intended for publication, but was private and confidential, and addressed only to a few friends, and that giving it to the papers was a gross breach of confidence. Hall adds that he has written to both Chapleau and Taillon regretting and protesting against the publication. The letter is as follows:

"Montreal, Oct. 1, 1894.

"Dear Sir,—I have handed my resignation to Mr. Taillon, and expect its acceptance any moment.

"The question of the finances has been a burning one between us for some months. I have been insisting on an equilibrium and deficits disappearing, and in August last we came to a satisfactory conclusion about it and I was going to remain.

The question of repaying the 21,277,000 francs ($4,106,461), due on the 15th of December to the Paris people has finally caused the rupture. Mr. Taillon commenced correspondence with them in May when I was ill and when I had sent him in my resignation. I disapproved of it. On the 19th June the Canadian Pacific railway gave us notice that they would pay us the $7,000,000 on the 19th November.

"Mr. Taillon continued the correspondence, showing me some of it. On the 23rd July, when in Quebec, we discussed the question at some length, and I prepared a letter for him to sign, closing the correspondence. He told me that he had sent the letter, but on the 29th August I found out, on seeing a copy of it, that he had not done so, but added a clause asking them to make an offer for 60 years, three per cents, at 78c. He recived a cable from them in August, on a basis of three per cent. at 78, less 1 per cent. commission. We discussed them, and I gave him my objections as below.

On the 29th August he showed me a cable he was going to send, in effect stating their offer would be accepted, less two modifications. I again repeated my objections, and said sending it meant my resignation. I told him I would not consent to any such transactions, and for the following reasons, which I now state briefly:

1. We did not want to borrow permanently, but under our legislation of last session, being an act respecting the public debt, and under the Dominion legislation, we should utilise the C. P. R. money, and the money we could get from the Dominion, to pay off the Paris people and the money owing for railway subsidies and railway guarantee deposits, and we could also use the money in converting our debt and reducing our interest charge. This would relieve us entirely from making any more loans.

2. If we had to borrow we should not do so at 3 per cent. at 7, on account of the great increase in our capital or public debt, as for instance, he has agreed to issue 27,6[illegible],447 francs, or $5,[illegible] at 3 per cent. to retire 21,277,000 francs, or $4,106,461, at 4 per cent. The result is that though there is a reduction of $4,266.45 in our interest each year, we have increased our public debt by $1,266,605.

3. If we were to borrow, we should now ask a little competition, so as to see the best possible price we could get, and accept the best offer.

The first occasion we meet, I will give more details, but in the meantime hasten to write this to give you information of what has been done. Yours truly,

(Signed) JOHN S. HALL.

BULLET-PROOF SHIELDS.

Another Sort Invented by a British Army Officer.

The London newspapers contain fuller accounts of the new bullet-proof shield invented by a British officer (of which some particulars have been furnished by the cable), and there seems to be no doubt that the contrivance accomplishes all that it professes to do. It is simply a plate of specially-prepared chrome steel, with a slot in the top for the soldier's rifle. The weight is less than one-half that of a life-guardsman's cuirass, and the material is absolutely proof against the British service bullet propelled by cordite through a Lee-Metford rifle at thirty yards' distance. A bullet which would pass completely through an oak plank thirty inches thick is powerless to do more than make a slight indention on the plate, which is only three-sixteenths of an ich thick. An aide of the Duke of Cambridge fired five shots at one plate from a Lee-Metford rifle, and at the request of the duke placed his shots as nearly as possible in the same spot, without effecting anything like a perforation. Each bullet struck the shield with more than a foot-ton of energy. The duke expressed his satisfaction at the result of the tests in the most emphatic terms, and declared his conviction that a problem which had defied the experts for years had been solved at last. To what extent, if at all, the shield can be used in actual warfare remains to be proved, but it has clearly demonstrated its ability to stop bullets, and that, too, under conditions wholly free from the suspicions of trickery and reserve which marked the experiments with the Dowe coat.—New York Post.

The formula of Ayer's Sarsaparilla is well-known to the medical profession, and universally approved. The reputation of the firm guarantees excellence and uniformity in the medicine, and the world's experence for nearly half a century has fully demonstrated its value.

THE FOREIGNER IN JAPAN.

His Treatment Under the International Agreements.

There are 16 nations having treaties with Japan, and they present, in the foreign concessions, the singular spectacle of 16 little governments all independent of each other, dispensing justice and administering as many different forms of law within the same territory.

Each foreigner is registered in the consulate of his country. All legal processes and suits against him, brought by other foreigners or by Japanese, are entered with and tried before his consul, except in the case of Great Britain, which maintains a court separate from its consulate. If the alien commits an offence against Japanese law or regulation outside the treaty limits, he can be arrested by the native police, but he must be tried and punished, if guilty, by his consul, the Japanese government prosecuting the case, and it is also bound, on the request of a consul, to arrest deserters and fugatives from justice who have fled outside treaty limits. Certain customs fees and regulations are provided for, but failure to pay the former or any dispute about the latter can be settled only by a consul.

On the other hand, the land in the foreign concessions is the property of the Japanese government, and is leased in perpetuity to the foreigner at a rate per tsubo (six feet square) which varies according to the location of the land, is payable annually, and is the only tax levied. The lease may be bought and sold, but always subject to the ground rent.

In the Kencho (the office of the municipal authorities,) is vested all police and sanitary control, and the care of all streets and roads, but the police cannot enter the premises of a foreigner without the written permission of his consul. In Kobe, the foreign settlement of Hiogo, the residents own the land they occupy.—Harper's Weekly.
